

AYURAMBALAM

'Ayurambalam,' as a brand, depicts the soul of Ayurveda when employed to work in human body to transform it to renewed energy and life. It is a combination of green, light yellow and brown; all three of which symbolically represent a conducive atmosphere for life to flourish on earth.

It is made out in the form of a conch pitched in an earthen pan (Chirath) with its flame illuminating the whole of it. A person, pictured as a silhouette in brown - the colour of the earth - is seen as performing Soorya Namaskaram. While green refers to the richness of life on earth, yellow connotes the essential purity required for a perfect life. Brown plays an equally important part as it directly refers to human body which will eventually go back to mother earth and merge with its clay.

Altogether the logo draws a clear picture of man's life on earth in a perfect natural setting that would complete the cycle of life in its entirety. The Green color Depicts Nature in its pristine form.
